

ABOUT

Work Without Limits' Disability Inclusion and the Workplace blog features guest and staff writers that aim to highlight varying perspectives of disability inclusion in the workplace. The goal of our blog is to showcase the positive ways in which employers are impacted by hiring people with disabilities and how this affects individuals, families, and society as a whole.

AUDIENCE

Our audience includes:

- Individuals with disabilities
- Family Members
- Employers
- Employment Service Providers
- Educational institutions
- Policymakers

This audience tends to spend 2-7 minutes per blog.

TOPICS

Blog topics include:

- Events
- Programs and services
- Best practices
- Personal stories
- Resources
- And more!

Contact Us To Share Your Story

Nicole Henry, Project Assistant, nicole.henry@umassmed.edu, 508-856-3934

Follow Us

Work Without Limits, an initiative of the University of Massachusetts Medical School, is a network of engaged employers and innovative, collaborative partners whose shared mission is to increase the employment rate of people with disabilities. Our goal is for the employment rate of people with disabilities be equal to that of people without disabilities.

© 2018 University of Massachusetts Medical School